The Rector writes about Candlemas

Christmas is over but in worship it leaves an echo. All through January the church keeps the season of the Epiphany – the worship of the baby Jesus by seers from the East. Then at the start of February – this year kept on Sunday 3rd February – the ancient festival of the Presentation of our Lord in the Temple, known as Candlemas.

The story of the Presentation, told in Chapter 2 of St.Luke’s Gospel, is that as Joseph and Mary brought Jesus to the Temple in Jerusalem, Jesus was recognised by Simeon as ‘the light of the world’. Anna was Simeon’s companion, and these two people – getting on years – were early witnesses of the glory of God in Christ.

The Gospel story may seem, on the face of it, as a simple train of events that belong in the past. The Christian experience is always that, lived week by week and year by year, the events of the Gospel become part of our own story. And would we recognise Jesus if he came to us again?

Candlemas plays its part in the passage of the seasons because it comes a few weeks after Christmas and a few weeks before the start of Lent: it is a pivot. Again, on the face of it that may seem a small thing, but the Christian year – dating from earliest Christian times – is woven into our culture and experience. Lent is the period of demanding weeks leading up to Good Friday, when winter seems to linger longer than it should. Certainly, Christmas is well in the past by the time Ash Wednesday comes.

Come to church on Sunday 3rd February. As the last stage in the story of the infancy of Jesus, and with God’s glory revealed to a surprised, elderly couple, this really is the last of Christmas.

Jon Hale

John and Charles Wesley - evangelists and hymn-writers

John and Charles Wesley were the founders of Methodism. Two of nineteen children born to Samuel and Susannah Wesley of Epworth Rectory in Lincolnshire in 1703 and 1707, their father was the local rector, while their mother was a spiritual inspiration to her many children.

Both John and Charles went to Christ Church, Oxford (1720 and 1726). John was ordained, and Charles and some friends formed a "Holy Club" while still at college. It consisted of men who dedicated themselves to Bible study, prayer, fasting and good works. Such regular disciplines soon earned Charles the nickname 'Methodist'. The name stuck.

Both Charles and John felt called to the mission field, and so in 1735 they sailed to Georgia. Their time among Indians in America was not a success – they struggled for any real spiritual authority in their ministries. Feeling failures, they returned to England in some depression. John summed it up: "I went to America to convert the Indians; but, oh, who shall convert me?"

Then the Wesleys made friends with some Moravians. They stressed that salvation cannot be earned, but must be received by grace through faith in Christ. Charles was the first to experience this 'true' conversion, when on Pentecost Sunday, 21st May 1738, he wrote that the Spirit of God "chased away the darkness of my unbelief." Only three days later, on 24th May, 1738, it was John's turn. As he wrote in his journal: "In the evening I went very unwillingly to a society in Aldersgate Street, where one was reading Luther's preface to the Epistle to the Romans. About a quarter before nine, while he was describing the change which God works in the heart through faith in Christ, I felt my heart strangely warmed."

John and Charles Wesley then devoted the rest of their lives to sharing the Good News of Jesus Christ – and turned England upside-down. When the established Church threw John out, he took to the fields, preaching to coal miners and commoners. His itinerant evangelism took him 250,000 miles on horseback and to preach over 40,000 sermons. His small "societies" attracted some 120,000 followers by the time of his death.

Charles became the most prolific and skilled hymn-writer in English history, writing hymns that are sung widely today, such as "Love Divine, All Loves Excelling." In all, he wrote nearly 7000 hymns.

The legacy of the two brothers lives on. As well as Methodism, their teaching has widely impacted the holiness movement, the Pentecostal movement, and the charismatic movement.

Bishop Libby is to be the next Bishop of Derby

The Rt Revd Libby Lane will be the next Bishop of Derby, Downing Street has announced.

Bishop Libby is currently the Bishop of Stockport, a post she has occupied since 2015.

Bishop Libby says: "I am thrilled to have been appointed as the next Bishop of Derby. I am excited about starting my ministry there and for getting to know all the people, places and parishes that will be a part of it. I have had a wonderful time in the Diocese of Chester and I will miss it greatly. I won't be leaving right away and hope to have time to properly say farewell before I take up my new post."

Bishop Peter Forster, the Bishop of Chester said: "Libby has had a splendid ministry in the Diocese of Chester, and most notably over the past four years as Bishop of Stockport. We will miss her very much, but she will be an excellent Bishop of Derby as she takes her exceptional gifts to this wider ministry in the Church."

The Ven Ian Bishop, Archdeacon of Macclesfield said: "Bishop Libby is rooted in prayer that has grown out of a living and vibrant faith in Christ. All of her many qualities have formed a gifted leader in the Church of God and I know she will lead the Diocese of Derby with courage and energy. Whilst I am personally sad not to be working closely with her in the future, these are exciting times for Libby and the Diocese of Derby."

Beating the Bounds: from the sermon preached by the Rector at St.Mary's Church at Epiphany 2019

I set out from the Rectory at 9am on the morning of New Year's Day to walk in the parish. I walked up Bradford Lane, and then to the top of Finlow Hill, and on to the Edge via Adders Moss. As I drew near to the Edge, I could hear voices – the first voices I had heard that morning: young children's excited voices, with their parents following close behind. And a young couple passed me – the man carrying their tiny baby wrapped in his coat. They beamed at me, and I beamed back. No late night partying on 31st December for parents of young children! I crossed the road and walked down Artists Lane, with cyclists passing by. At the foot of Artists Lane, I turned right along the footpath which goes along the back of the big houses on Congleton Road.

This brought me to Whitebarn Road, which I crossed, and I continued on the footpath. This is where the parish boundary between St.Mary's parish and St.Philip & St.James parish, Alderley Edge becomes confusing. In the ecclesiastical parish where you live, you have certain rights, such as to be married in the parish church – provided other conditions are met. And you may also gain these rights by joining the church Electoral Roll. Most of the time, this doesn't matter – but just occasionally it does matter which side of the parish boundary you live. In the office at the Rectory, a large map hangs on the wall which shows the parish boundary. It's the Ordnance Survey map of 1908. This shows a finger of land which is St.Mary's parish running towards Alderley Edge village and crossing Congleton Road to take in just two houses on its west side. And, coming south, between this finger of land and Whitebarn Road, a finger of land goes the other way across Congleton Road, which is St.Philip and St.James parish. Confused?

I was confused - until New Years' Day, when I walked the ground with my map – and stood and orientated myself, when there was nobody around to ask what I was doing! I now understand where the parish boundary runs on this side of the village. It's the right to be married in church – which is governed by the law of the land – that is the most significant aspect that may depend on your parish of residence or whether you are on the church Electoral Roll. If you want to know if you live within the ecclesiastical parish of St.Mary's Church, look at the parish boundary map which I have put on the notice board in the church porch. If you would like to come onto the church electoral roll, please pick up an application form in church and return it to the Electoral Roll officer.

I ran down the steps from Congleton Road, passed the girls' school playing fields, and crossed the bridge over the railway. The sun came out and I found I was walking the dog-walkers' paths in blinding winter light. Over the railway bridge and into Welsh Row, and then across the fields to Sand Lane, I ended up coming over the fields to St.Mary's Church, and back to the Rectory.

CAROL SINGING

A big thank-you to all our hosts and to all our singers. We raised a record amount of £1350 over 2 nights carol singing and a session at Woodlands Court. The money has been split evenly between the 'NSPCC' and 'East Cheshire Hospice'.

THANK YOU

December

On my return from Church this morning, I really felt a letter conveying our sincere and heartfelt thanks on behalf of the congregation, must go to Michael Penlington and his dedicated team of helpers. The Church looked beautiful. Displays like this do not happen overnight, a great deal of time and effort have been made to achieve this. We are so fortunate at St Mary's as it isn't just Christmas this happens but Easter and Harvest also.

Once again a big thank you to all the flower team.

Margaret Worthington
